Work History

11/2021 – 12/2021

IQ Energy Australia (Intern)

IQ Energy, Australia

• Researched potential competitors of IQ Energy as they seek to establish themselves in the Asian market. Key learning areas included a professional engineering report and a final presentation, which was delivered with recommendations to the client based on the team's analysis. During the internship period, frequent communication with the client professionally took place through weekly meetings.

• The client was impressed with the quality and depth of the report and presentation. Client expectations were exceeded as the team researched additional materials for the company. The work put together will be of great use to IQ Energy Australia as they continue to grow and establish itself in the global market.
